The junior choir of St. Monica's church is requested to meet at the convent this evening to rehearse the music for the first Friday devotion.

D. A. Perry conducted a well-attended auction sale for E. E. Flint at the capital yesterday. Farming implements, wagons, household effects, etc., brought excellent prices.

Notice to the I. O. O. L. M. U.—All Odd Ladies please hand their due books to Mrs. William Stephens, 10 Warren street, on or before July 3, for the semi-annual audit.

Fishing and hunting licenses will not be delivered to the various town and city clerks before July 2, the reason being a failure on the part of the printer to get them out on time.

Miss Blanche Corlies has returned from a visit of several days in Burlington and vicinity, in the course of which she was a guest of Miss Alice Reed at her camp in Queen City park.

Mrs. Fannie W. Winch of Marshfield is a daughter of the late Fred Waters, whose death occurred Sunday afternoon. Her name was omitted from the list of relatives printed in Monday's paper.

A confession for the first Friday will be heard to-morrow afternoon at St. Monica's church. Parents are requested to see that their children come in the afternoon, and next Friday mass will be celebrated at 7 a. m. Holy hour in the evening at 7:30.

For Charles R. Blake of Brookfield the D. A. Perry Real Estate agency has sold a farm in Brookfield containing 140 acres to Mr. and Mrs. H. Mahan of Stockbridge, who will take possession of the property to-morrow. The price named is $2,000 and the deal includes the stock, tools and other equipment. W. W. Perkins, the agency's Bethel representative, acted as intermediary in the transaction. Mr. Blake plans to leave in the near future for an extended stay on the Pacific coast.

A party of 10 campfire girls, consisting of Misses Ruth Sowden, Beth Skinner, Emma Downing, Doris Farrar, Evelyn Bugbee, Ruth Glysson, Lillian Olsen, Gertrude Olsen, Avis Coffin, Hazel Jellyman and with Mrs. Eugene Glysson, who acted as chaperon, returned this noon from Highgate Springs, where they have been camping for the past week. Mrs. C. L. Bugbee, who has also been with them as chaperon, will return home this evening. While there the girls have been having an outdoor treat in the form of hikes, swimming, rowing and all camp life.

Amateur gardeners are having their troubles with members of the feathered fraternity and to such a serious stage have the hen depredations arrived that people who are nursing small garden plots during the summer months have been moved to ask police headquarters for relief. On the east side of the city a commuter went into his garden on a recent morning and found three beds of well-developed turnips and squash ravaged beyond any hope of redemption. Repeated promises on the part of hen-owners to keep their birds within bounds have not been fulfilled, it is claimed.

But one baseball game is in prospect at the week end, as the Rutland team has cancelled its contract with the Italian A. C. and the manager of the Italian club expects to stage a performance in Randolph, where public-spirited business men are backing a team that boasts such prominent Vermont collectors as Spear, the Vermont twirler, and Haskins, the varsity backstop at Middlebury. The big game Saturday is to be seen at Ayers street, where the Barre A. C. will play the Dorchester, Mass. A. A. team slated to meet St. Johnsbury in a double-header next Monday. Interest in sporting events on the glorious fifth centers around the Italian A. C. Barre A. C. combat, a single bill at the trotting park in the afternoon.

Indicative of the service which the fitness sees in the course of a few weeks is the statement of one of the intercity drivers who was the pioneer in establishing a jitney line between Barre and Montpelier. E. H. Miller, a Prospect street man, completed his seventh week as a jitney driver to-day and during that period he has covered more than 6,000 miles between the two communities, with only an occasional sidetrip. One tire, still in use, has traversed 8,000 miles of that distance. Patience of the jitney seems to increase rather than go the other way and competition, instead of reducing the number of jitney cars, as was predicted, has had the effect of multiplying them.

The Bethany class of the Baptist church gathered last evening and went to the home of their teacher, Miss Henrietta Ingles of Clark avenue, and gave her a genuine surprise in the form of a farewell party. There were 15 of the class members present and all enjoyed a good time playing games and listening to music. Light refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The departure of the young people was made at 10 o'clock, but not until all had wished their teacher good luck in her summer's vacation in Boston. They also presented her ivory buffer and nail file. The presentation was made by Miss Inez Mahan in a fitting little speech, to which Miss Ingles responded.

Surveyors in the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad system are spending several days in Barre and vicinity, having extended their trackage across to the Montpelier & North River line and the air line to the quarry. It is the purpose of the engineers to prepare a careful statistical record of the number of miles on each division of the system. A large number of men have been assigned to the work throughout New England and several weeks will be required to complete the project. As the trip in Barre are bending their efforts toward completing the census of the quarry made. Not only do the surveyors note the number of miles, etc., but their reports include a detailed description of the trackage and surroundings.

Table Protectors.

One must exercise great care to see that hot dishes are not placed on the polished dining table. The ordinary metal one frequently seen are ungainly, and are made simply for protection, without thought for beauty or good design.

A charming innovation, introduced by one clever hostess shows oval shaped dollys of linen, made in sets of three. They have the conventional embroidered scallops with pretty variations, and show an artistic border design confined to about two inches from the edge. The centre of each dolly is made double, with an opening at one end, through which cardboard or asbestos may be inserted to form a solid pad. In this way the table is not only protected, but very prettily decorated.

Try holding the lemon in hot water a few minutes before cutting. They will yield double the juice.

Never varnish furniture during a damp season, and never in a room where there is no hot water. When varnish dries slowly it has an opportunity for catching dust which is plainly visible when the varnish is perfectly dry.

United States district court reconvenes at the federal building in this city next Tuesday, July 6, at 9 o'clock, according to notices received in the city to-day by Deputy Marshal George Lackey. The court adjourned early in June at the conclusion of several civil cases which were tried. It is not expected that many criminal cases will be tried this term, owing to the hot weather generally had at this season of the year. The case against John Lobble, a Japanese, arrested in the west for alleged conspiracy, will probably be taken up first. He has been in the county jail since the latter part of May, having been brought from Seattle, Wash.

City Clerk and Treasurer T. R. Merrill received this morning the hunting, fishing and combination fishing and hunting licenses which will be issued commencing to-morrow, July 1, when the law regarding the combination license enacted by the last legislature takes effect. Twenty one hundred and twenty blanks were received, there being seven hundred each of the resident combination and hunting and fishing licenses, and twenty no resident combinations. Fishing and hunting licenses will cost the sportsman sixty cents each, while a cut rate is allowed if the combination is taken out, the tax being but one dollar. Here at the local office it is the opinion of the clerk that the combination blanks will prove the most popular.

400,000 FEDERAL EMPLOYEES.

Largest Army of Workmen Which Can Be Mustered in America.

This question can be answered in the affirmative by over 400,000 persons, the largest army of employees which can be mustered in the land. They comprise a most intelligent, efficient, and representative group of citizens, individuals who have attained prominence in their respective communities and who are looked to for advice. Yet for every month of the coming year, six of these people will die unnecessarily of a disease which is absolutely preventable. That disease is typhoid fever. The annual toll from this single group of workers will be over seventy lives. Can you afford to take the chance of being one of the seventy? Think it over and decide.

Under order of February 12, 1915, Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo designated 164 stations of the public health service in the United States where the preventive treatment may be administered. Whether you work in Ketchikan, Sledgeham, or Washington, is immaterial; the treatment is at your call and without cost. The inconvenience is slight, the dangers negligible, and the immunity fairly permanent. Reducing the period of immunity as four years, and having the calculation upon what has already been accomplished, compliance with the secretary's offer would result in saving the lives of 300 people and at least ten times that number from periods of invalidism.

The danger season for typhoid is now here. The vacation period is especially apt to bear a definite relation to the development of the disease and the days which should be complete with joy and pleasure are marred by disease and death. The means of infection are numerous, and flies, milk, polluted water and contaminated food products are all factors, so that control is difficult to exercise. No matter how faithful and efficient your health officer may be, and regardless of the funds at his disposal, he cannot altogether relieve you of the dangers of the disease. Vaccination will, however, accomplish this.

Already hundreds of federal employees have availed themselves of this opportunity to be treated. The news of all legitimate results is now coming, and likewise the self employees of the engineering corps of the army. Treatment should not be delayed by those who wish to avoid the dangers of the summer season.

GIVES UP OXFORD COURSE.

Bristol Man Thinks War Has Robbed the University.

Middlebury, June 30.—Wayne C. Bosworth of Bristol, graduate of Middlebury college in the class of 1911, winner of a four years' Rhodes scholarship at Oxford, Eng., who has been the guest of the Delta Upsilon fraternity here since his recent return from Liverpool, yesterday made the announcement that he will not complete his next two years at the English university, but instead enter business with the Columbia Trust company of New York.

Mr. Bosworth is of the opinion that further study at the university is nothing short of wasting time. Owing to the war, he reports that the faculty has been very much weakened since most of the professors and instructors have gone to the front. Mr. Bosworth said that the last semester at Oxford proved unprofitable as far as education is concerned. He fears that next semester will see only books and libraries at Oxford and the place devoid of instructors.

Means Loss of $3000.

The giving up of the scholarship will mean a loss of $3000 to Mr. Bosworth as well as trips abroad and an easy life.

During his last sojourn in Great Britain and France Mr. Bosworth met with several thrilling experiences as he did at the opening of the war at which time he was in Switzerland.

Mr. Bosworth made his last trip from Liverpool on board the American liner St. Paul. The ship was chased by German submarines several miles off the coast of Ireland.
